Hi all,

I've just heard from Aldo that the studio we booked for Thursday has had a pipe burst and will be unavailable until next week. Rather than push the shoot back and risk missing the catalog's print deadline, I've arranged for us to use the showroom at our Lambert Street store instead; the store manager has kindly agreed to close two hours early that day.

The photographer has no objection to the change but has asked that the furniture be delivered there by noon so that she can set up her lighting. Tomas, since you're already coordinating with the warehouse, could you see to that? Everyone else should plan to arrive by 3:30. Please remember that the finished photographs must be submitted to the printer by July 20.

Bakery Chain Rethinks Expansion

WELLINGTON (12 June)—Kiwi Crust, the bakery chain known for its savoury pies, has shelved plans to open ten new shops this year, chief executive Hamish Tane confirmed on Tuesday. The company will instead concentrate on supplying supermarkets, a side of the business that has grown by nearly 40 percent since its frozen range was launched eighteen months ago.

Mr. Tane was quick to dismiss suggestions that the chain is in difficulty. "Our existing shops are trading well," he said. "But rents in the city centres have climbed steeply, and it makes little sense to commit to long leases when shoppers are increasingly buying our products with their weekly groceries."

Questions 164-167 refer to the following article.

A Second Life for Old Sails

By Renee Dufour

LORIENT—For most sailors, a torn mainsail is an expensive nuisance. For Yann Kerbrat, it is raw material. — [1] —. Since leaving his job as a marine engineer six years ago, Mr. Kerbrat has turned thousands of square metres of discarded sailcloth into travel bags, deck chairs, and even lampshades, all sewn in a converted boat shed overlooking Lorient harbour.

The business, Voile Neuve, began almost by accident. Mr. Kerbrat stitched a bag from a ruined sail as a birthday present for a friend, and within a month a dozen members of his sailing club had asked for one. — [2] —.

Obtaining sailcloth has never been a problem; local sailmakers, who otherwise pay to dispose of old sails, are glad to hand them over. — [3] —. The difficulty lies in the cloth itself, which is so stiff that it blunts ordinary needles within hours. Mr. Kerbrat eventually bought three industrial machines from a tent manufacturer that was going out of business.

Voile Neuve now employs eleven people and sells mainly through its Web site, with nearly half of all orders coming from abroad. A shop in Paris is planned for next spring. — [4] —.

164. What is the article mainly about?

(A) A sailing club that repairs boats for its members
(B) A harbour that has been turned into a shopping area
(C) A business that makes goods from used materials
(D) An engineer who designs sails for racing boats

165. According to the article, how did Voile Neuve begin?

(A) With a loan from a sailing club
(B) With machines bought from a sailmaker
(C) With a birthday present for a friend
(D) With an order from a shop in Paris

166. What is suggested about local sailmakers?

(A) They save money by giving away old sails.
(B) They sell sailcloth to Mr. Kerbrat at a discount.
(C) They compete with Voile Neuve for customers.
(D) They supply needles to tent manufacturers.

167. In which of the positions marked [1], [2], [3], and [4] does the following sentence best belong?

"He was soon spending every weekend filling orders."

(A) [1]
(B) [2]
(C) [3]
(D) [4]

Questions 168-171 refer to the following e-mail.

To:	Department Supervisors
From:	Lionel Achterberg, Plant Manager
Date:	November 3
Subject:	Annual safety audit

Dear Supervisors,

The regional safety inspector, Ms. Farida Noor, will carry out our annual audit on Tuesday, November 17. Last year's audit turned up only two minor issues, both of which were put right within the week, and I am counting on each of you to help us do at least as well this time.

Ms. Noor will begin in the loading area at 8:00 A.M. and work her way through the plant in the order shown on the attached plan, finishing in the paint shop. She will want to see the maintenance log for every machine, so please make sure yours is up to date and signed; a log with gaps, however brief, is treated as a violation. Fire exits must be unobstructed, and all protective equipment should be hung in its designated place rather than left at workstations.

As in past years, the inspector may stop and question any employee about emergency procedures. With that in mind, I would like each supervisor to hold a ten-minute review with their team before the end of next week. Rana Aziz in Human Resources has prepared a one-page summary that you may find useful; she will drop copies off at your offices tomorrow.

Regards,
Lionel Achterberg

168. What is the purpose of the e-mail?

(A) To report the results of last year's audit
(B) To introduce a new safety inspector
(C) To announce changes to emergency procedures
(D) To prepare staff for an upcoming inspection

169. What does Mr. Achterberg mention about last year's audit?

(A) It was conducted by Ms. Aziz.
(B) It began in the paint shop.
(C) The problems it identified were corrected quickly.
(D) It found several machines with incomplete maintenance logs.

170. According to the e-mail, what could be considered a violation?

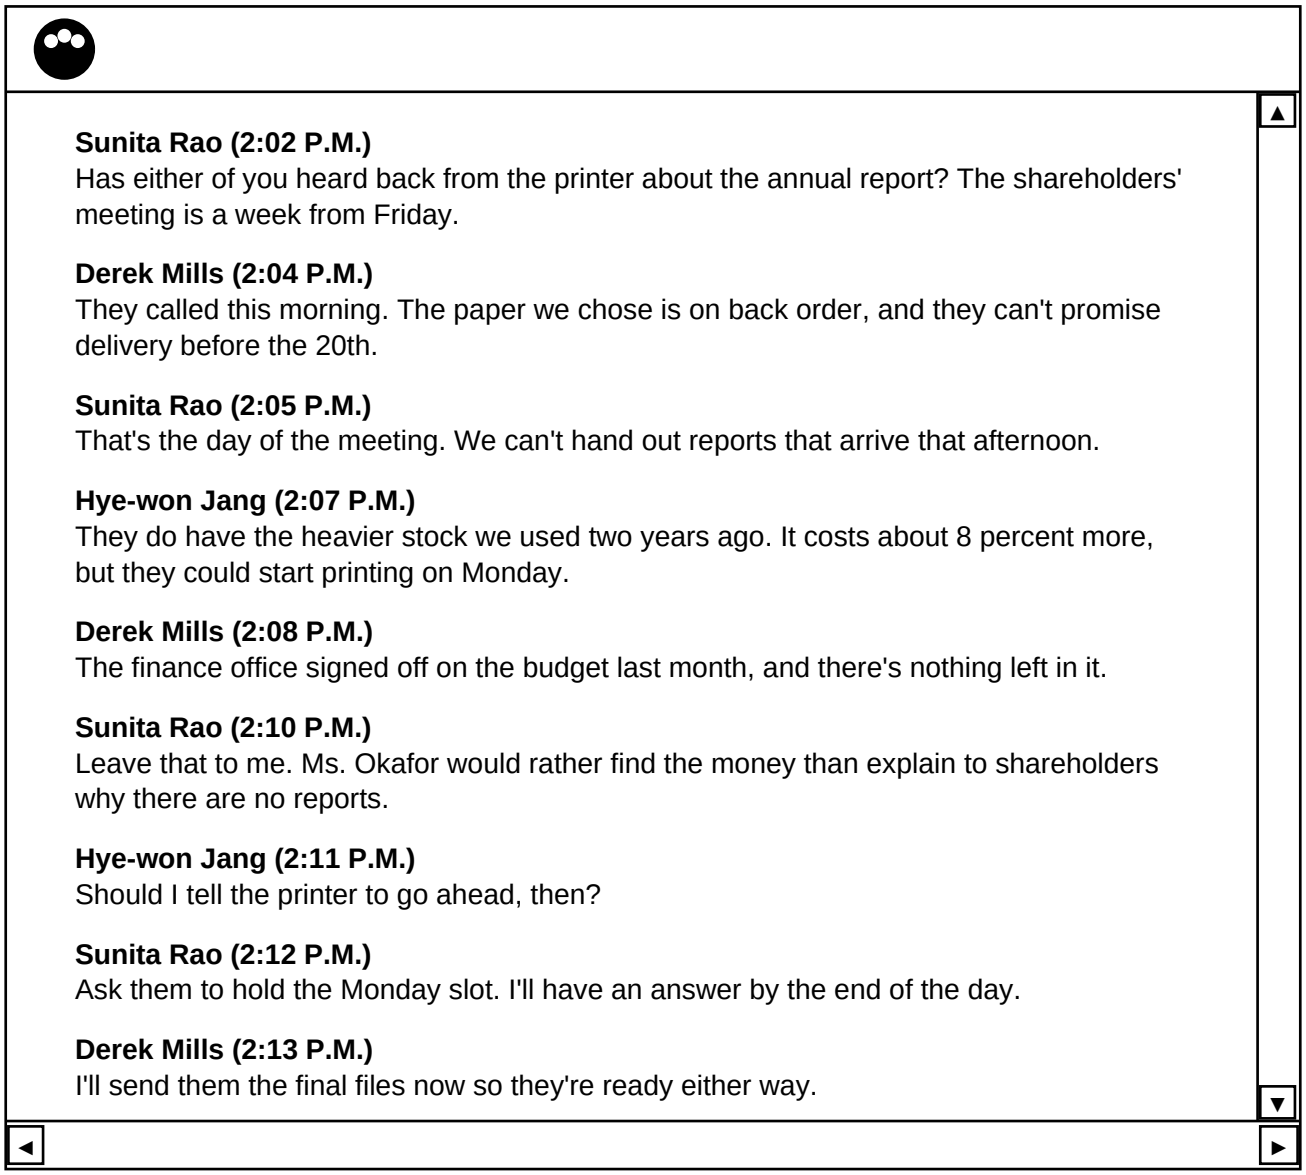

(A) Equipment hung in its designated place
(B) A review lasting more than ten minutes
(C) A maintenance log with gaps
(D) An employee who cannot be questioned

171. According to the e-mail, what will Ms. Aziz do tomorrow?

(A) Question employees about emergency procedures
(B) Bring copies of a summary to supervisors' offices
(C) Sign the maintenance logs
(D) Lead a review for each team

Questions 172-175 refer to the following online chat discussion.

Sunita Rao (2:02 P.M.)
Has either of you heard back from the printer about the annual report? The shareholders' meeting is a week from Friday.

Derek Mills (2:04 P.M.)
They called this morning. The paper we chose is on back order, and they can't promise delivery before the 20th.

Sunita Rao (2:05 P.M.)
That's the day of the meeting. We can't hand out reports that arrive that afternoon.

Hye-won Jang (2:07 P.M.)
They do have the heavier stock we used two years ago. It costs about 8 percent more, but they could start printing on Monday.

Derek Mills (2:08 P.M.)
The finance office signed off on the budget last month, and there's nothing left in it.

Sunita Rao (2:10 P.M.)
Leave that to me. Ms. Okafor would rather find the money than explain to shareholders why there are no reports.

Hye-won Jang (2:11 P.M.)
Should I tell the printer to go ahead, then?

Sunita Rao (2:12 P.M.)
Ask them to hold the Monday slot. I'll have an answer by the end of the day.

Derek Mills (2:13 P.M.)
I'll send them the final files now so they're ready either way.

172. What problem are the writers discussing?

(A) A meeting has been moved to an earlier date.
(B) Some printing material is unavailable.
(C) A report contains several errors.
(D) A printer has raised its prices by 8 percent.

173. What is indicated about the heavier paper?

(A) It will be delivered on the 20th.
(B) It was chosen by the finance office.
(C) It is less expensive than the original paper.
(D) It was used for an earlier report.

174. At 2:10 P.M., what does Ms. Rao most likely mean when she writes, "Leave that to me"?

(A) She will choose a different printing company.
(B) She will prepare the final files herself.
(C) She will explain the delay to shareholders.
(D) She will seek approval for additional spending.

175. What will Mr. Mills most likely do next?

(A) Send the final files to the printer
(B) Reserve a time slot for printing
(C) Ask Ms. Okafor for an answer

To: events@dunmorecatering.co.uk
From: Imogen Clarke <iclarke@aldgatelaw.co.uk>
Date: 10 June
Subject: Order #2207

Dear Mr. Dunmore,

I am writing with two changes to our order for Friday. First, three of our senior partners who had expected to be abroad will now be able to join us, so we will need to raise the number of dinners accordingly. I trust this can still be accommodated.

Second, Mr. Hendry's wife has let me know, in confidence, that he does not drink alcohol, which rather defeats the purpose of toasting him with sparkling wine. Could the reception drinks be replaced with something suitable—perhaps the elderflower drink you served at our spring client evening? If this affects the price, please send a revised order.

The balance was transferred to your account last Thursday. I assume any difference can be settled after the event.

Kind regards,
Imogen Clarke, Office Manager

Tram Line to Reach Northfield by Spring

BRISTOL (9 October)—Construction of the long-awaited tram extension to Northfield is running four months ahead of schedule, the West Country Transit Authority said on Thursday, and passenger service is now expected to begin in April rather than August.

Authority spokesperson Dilip Chowdhury credited an unusually dry summer, which allowed crews to lay track without interruption. The extension adds five stops to the existing Green Line, ending at a new terminus beside Northfield Hospital, the area's largest employer.

Not everyone is celebrating. Shop owners along Marsh Road, where a stop is being built, say that months of fencing and diverted traffic have discouraged customers from visiting. The authority has responded by offering affected businesses free advertising space inside its trams for one year. "It is a gesture, but it will not make up for what we have lost," said florist Agnes Whitlow, whose shop has stood on Marsh Road since 1987.

Subject:	Advertising offer

Dear Mr. Chowdhury,

Thank you for your letter of 28 October setting out the details of the advertising scheme. Having spoken with several of my neighbours, I have decided to take part after all, and I enclose the completed form.

I do have one request. The form asks each business to supply a finished design by 30 November, but I have neither the software nor the skill to produce one. I understand that the authority employs its own designers. Would one of them be able to prepare a simple layout if I provided photographs of my arrangements and the wording?

I would also be grateful to know when the fencing outside my shop is likely to come down. December is by far my busiest month, and I would like to tell my regular customers that they can once again reach me without difficulty.

Yours sincerely,
Agnes Whitlow

Subject: Charter inquiry for June 12

Hello,

Tandem Software is planning a staff outing to Silver Lake State Park on Friday, June 12, and I am gathering quotes for transportation. We expect 38 employees, one of whom uses a wheelchair, and we will be bringing along folding tables and several large coolers for a picnic. We would like to leave our office in Ashland at 8:30 A.M. and start back from the park at about 4:00 P.M. According to the park's Web site, the entrance is 95 kilometers from downtown Ashland.

Could you advise me which of your vehicles would be most suitable and what the total cost would be? Our budget has not been finalized, so I may not be able to confirm for another two weeks.

Subject:	RE: Charter inquiry for June 12

Dear Ms. Etxeberria,

Thank you for considering Crestview Coaches. Given the size of your group and your colleague's needs, only one vehicle in our fleet is appropriate, and I am pleased to say that it is free on the date you require. Its lower deck has ample room for the equipment you mention.

Because your destination lies well within our standard range, the day rate would be the only charge. I should point out that June is our busiest month, and I cannot hold the vehicle without a deposit. If you are able to pay it this week, I will reserve the date for you; you would still be entitled to withdraw without penalty until early June should your plans change. A detailed quotation and our standard conditions are attached for your reference.

Best regards,
Colin Abara, Charter Manager

(A) They cover trips of any distance.
(B) They are refunded in full at any time.

(A) Its funding has not yet been approved.
(B) It will take place over a weekend.
(C) It will include lunch at a restaurant.
(D) It has been held at the same park before.

193. Which vehicle does Mr. Abara most likely recommend?

(A) Minibus
(B) Midi coach
(C) Executive coach

194. How much will Tandem Software most likely be charged for the charter?

(A) $610

Questions 196-200 refer to the following notice, online review, and e-mail.

The Ardmore Hotel: Notice to Our Guests

The Ardmore Hotel is undertaking the first full refurbishment of its guest rooms in nearly twenty years. Work is being carried out one floor at a time so that the hotel can remain open throughout.

From 3 to 28 February, the fourth floor will be closed. Guests staying in rooms on the third and fifth floors may notice some noise between 9:00 A.M. and 4:30 P.M. on weekdays; no work takes place in the evenings or at weekends. In recognition of the disturbance, guests on those two floors will receive a 20 percent reduction in their room rate for each weekday night of their stay, applied automatically at checkout.

During this period, the rooftop restaurant will serve breakfast as usual, but the fitness room, which is located on the fourth floor, will be unavailable. Guests are welcome to use the facilities at the Calloway Health Club, two minutes' walk from the hotel, on presentation of their room key. We apologize for any inconvenience and appreciate your understanding.

Comfortable, despite the building work

I stayed at the Ardmore for three nights last week, Tuesday to Friday, while attending a trade fair. I had been warned about the renovation when I booked, and in truth it made little difference: I was out from early morning until evening each day, and my room, 512, was perfectly quiet whenever I was in it. The bed was comfortable, the breakfast upstairs was excellent, and the staff could not have been more helpful.

Two small disappointments. I had hoped to exercise before breakfast and was not told about the arrangement with the nearby gym until my last morning. And when I checked out, my bill showed the full rate for all three nights; the receptionist said she would look into it, but I have heard nothing since. —Bernard Okafor

Dear Mr. Okafor,

Please accept my apologies for the two shortcomings described in your review.

You are quite right about your bill. The reduction should have been applied without your having to ask, and I have this morning arranged for the amount owed to be returned to the card you used at checkout. The mistake was caused by an error in our reservations software, and it has since been addressed.

I hope you will give us another opportunity to welcome you. If you return after April, when the refurbishment will be complete, please contact me directly, and I will see that you are among the first to stay in one of our new rooms at no extra charge.

Yours sincerely,
Sylvie Marchetti, General Manager

(A) The hours of the building work
(B) The location of the restaurant

(A) Early access to a refurbished room
(B) A free night at the hotel
(C) A membership at a health club
(D) A refund for his entire stay

Stop! This is the end of the test. If you finish before time is called, you may go back to Parts 5, 6, and 7 and check your work.
