Greenway Bike Share Program to Expand

By Marcus Lee

PORTVILLE (April 2)—The city's bike share program, Greenway, will add 15 new stations and 200 bicycles this summer, bringing its total to 55 stations. The expansion, funded by a state transportation grant, will extend service to the Eastside and Harbor districts for the first time.

Since its launch three years ago, Greenway has recorded more than 400,000 rides. Most riders use annual memberships, which cost $80 and allow unlimited rides of up to 45 minutes each.

Under a new pricing plan taking effect on June 1, single rides will cost $3 instead of $2.50. Annual memberships will remain at the current price.

"We kept the membership price the same to reward our regular riders," said program director Alisha Grant. The new stations are scheduled to open on July 15. A map of the planned locations is available at www.greenwayportville.org.

Hello,

I am registered for the Thai Street Food class this Saturday. Unfortunately, I have just been asked to attend a business conference in Seattle that weekend, so I will not be able to come. Would it be possible to switch to Chef Diallo's class the following week instead? I took her class last Saturday and enjoyed it very much.

I understand there may be a difference in price. Please let me know how much I owe.

Questions 196-200 refer to the following article, e-mail, and online review.

Food Truck Festival Returns

MILFORD (June 3)—The Milford Food Truck Festival will return to Riverside Park on Saturday, June 22, from 11 A.M. to 9 P.M. Now in its fifth year, the festival will feature 40 food trucks, live music, and a children's area with games and face painting.

Admission is free, but visitors are encouraged to buy food tokens in advance on the festival Web site, where a set of ten costs $9. Tokens bought on the day of the festival will cost $10 per set. Organizers say the token system has shortened lines at the trucks because vendors no longer need to handle cash.

For the first time, this year's festival will also include a competition. Visitors can vote for their favorite truck, and the winner will receive a free booth at the Milford Autumn Market in October.

Dear Mr. Lee,

Congratulations! Seoul Street Kitchen received the most votes from festival visitors on Saturday, with more than 1,200 people choosing your truck. Many of them commented on your kimchi tacos and the friendliness of your staff.

As promised, you have earned a free booth at the Milford Autumn Market. Please review the attached information packet, which includes the market dates and set-up instructions, and confirm your participation by July 15.

Best regards,

Seoul Street Kitchen

I finally tried Seoul Street Kitchen at the Autumn Market last weekend after hearing that it had won the summer festival's competition. The kimchi tacos lived up to the hype, and the bulgogi rice bowl was generous. My only complaint is the wait: it took nearly 30 minutes to reach the front of the line, even though the market was not especially crowded. I hope the truck becomes a regular at the market.
